FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE / March 20, 2019

UC SANTA BARBARA CHINESE-AMERICAN HORN QUARTET BEIJING RESIDENCY

Members of UCSB Professor Steven Gross' Horn Studio to tour Beijing, China from March 23-29, 2019

(SANTA BARBARA, CA) March 20, 2019—The Chinese-American Horn Quartet, comprised of students of Dr. Steven Gross, will be in residence in China's capital city, Beijing, from March 23-29, 2019. The quartet's itinerary will include concerts, clinics, and masterclasses at the Beijing Central Conservatory, one of the world's leading music schools; the RDFD School, an elite high school affiliated with Renmin University; and prominent horn maker Briz Musical Instruments. Quartet members Daoji Yang and Kangcheng Li are Beijing natives and attended the RDFD School before enrolling at UC Santa Barbara. Anthony Sinicrope is from Minnesota and Olivia Langer grew up in Arkansas. The Quartet will be joined by accompanist Dr. Pascal Salomon, an alumnus of the UC Santa Barbara Department of Music.

Chancellor Henry Yang states, "We at UC Santa Barbara are tremendously proud of our Chinese-American Horn Quartet, which, under the dedicated leadership and direction of award-winning Professor Steven Gross, embodies the excellence, creativity, and talent on our campus. As our students travel to share their music and knowledge with international audiences, we encourage their global-mindedness and their service as dedicated ambassadors of our university."
